The Journal of Law, Economics, & Organization is an interdisciplinary enterprise. We seek to promote an understanding of many complex phenomena by examining such matters from a combined law, economics, and organization perspective (or a two-way combination thereof). In this connection, we use the term organization broadly—to include scholarship drawing on political science, psychology, and sociology, among other fields. We also hold the study of institutions—especially economic, legal, and political institutions—to be specifically important and greatly in need of careful analytic study.

Manuscripts and editorial correspondence should be either e-mailed to jleo@pantheon.yale.edu or addressed to Ian Ayres, Editor, The Journal of Law, Economics, & Organization, Yale Law School, Sterling Law Buildings, 127 Wall Street, New Haven, CT 06511. Manuscripts should be in Word, Rich Text Format, or PDF file formats, although other formats may be used; please check with the editorial office. An abstract of not more than 150 words should accompany each manuscript. All text, including footnotes and references, should be double-spaced. Footnotes should be numbered sequentially and placed at the end of the text. A style sheet is available upon request. Mailed submissions should include three copies of the manuscript.

Since The Journal of Law, Economics, & Organization is a refereed journal, only exclusive submissions will be considered.

As a condition of publishing an article with original quantitative analysis in The Journal of Law, Economics & Organization, the author or authors must, unless an exemption for proprietary data is requested and granted by The Journal of Law, Economics & Organization, promise to make their datasets, program files and log files accessible on the Internet within 3 years of the articles publication (and email The Journal of Law, Economics & Organization a URL link to this data). To be granted an exemption, an author should show good cause why the data cannot be released.

The Journal of Law, Economics, & Organization (ISSN 8756-6222) is published semiannually. Subscription prices include postage; for subscribers outside the Americas, issues are sent air freight.
